Dear Friends in Christ.

As we draw near to the conclusion of Lent and beginning of Holy Week, I want to invite you to participate fully and with spiritual abandon in the worship of Almighty God during this time in which we walk with Jesus through his final days on this earth and our souls are able to experience the divine Drama of human redemption as it unfolded in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. It is this time that is at the very center of our lives as Christians, the very reason for our worship of God in Jesus Christ over the past two thousand years.

Sometimes it seems that we do some "strange" things in our worship at this time of year, and the services are often confusing for many, since they are quite different from the usual Sunday liturgies. So I would like to offer some background information about the solemn liturgies of Holy Week, so that you may be a bit more informed about the important days ahead, and so that your Easter celebration and your joy may be intensified. I think we are all able to be more comfortable and accepting of liturgical actions if we at least know why we are doing such things.

I want Holy Week to be the very special experience for you that it has been for me for many, many years. Holy Week and Easter are part of the same drama. If we are fully to know and experience the joy of the Risen Jesus on Easter then we need to go with him to the Upper Room, the Garden of Gethsemane, to Calvary, and then into Hell. Finally, we are with him in the garden of the Resurrection.

It is spiritually and theologically impossible to separate the events of the Passion from those of Easter. Yet, even though the services of Holy week are different, ofttimes strange, sometimes embarrassing, and even a bit too long for many of us, they stand there to place us with Jesus that his life might become ours and our lives his. Our worship invites us to give ourselves to sounds, actions, and rites that we normally would not do. It invites us to go beyond our comfortable, middle - class, Episcopal piety and enter into something much greater than our pride. We are invited to be a part of a DIVINE DOING, that is, God at work in the Church. At the Lord's Table we are fed and nourished in a Eucharistic foretaste of the Heavenly Banquet, and we celebrate that glorious feast in this seamless garment of liturgy, wrapped about the Paschal mystery of our redemption.

Finally, please let us know of members of the parish family who may be ill or home-bound so that we may bring them their Easter Communion. This is not a burden — it is a great joy to share the Paschal Mystery in the Sacrament. May the Risen Christ live in you, that in his joy your life may be complete.

Faithfully,

Lucar

Andrews Hall where we will all gather, the palms will be blessed, and the entire congregation will process, singing, into the church, in reenactment of Our Lord's entry into Jerusalem.

Then the atmosphere changes. We pray that God, "whose Son went not up to joy but first he suffered pain," may lead us to find that the way of the cross leads to life eternal. The mood has changed. The passion is narrated in dramatic fashion, and the congregation takes their part as the crowd surrounding Jesus at his trial. It is now Holy Week, when in the words of the proper preface for the day, we celebrate Christ who was lifted high upon the Cross, to draw the whole world to himself, for he is the source of eternal salvation.

PASSION/PALM SUNDAY

The Palm Sunday Liturgy has two distinct parts, each with its own tone and feeling. The first part, the Liturgy of the Palms, is a rite of joy and triumph. We recall the Lord's entry into Jerusalem, when the people greeted him with cries of "Hosanna" (which means "save us") and waved branches and scattered them in his path. The palms are blessed and distributed to the people. The color of the day is the color for martyrs – red. The Liturgy of the Palms will begin in

MAUNDY THURSDAY

Maundy Thursday is the first of the three sacred (holy) days that constitute the Triduum Sacrum. This year, the Three Days begin at 7 PM on Thursday, April 2. I find it helpful to reflect upon four points as we prepare to worship on this day:

First, a theme of Maundy Thursday is unity. The liturgy is in the evening because it commemorates the evening meal shared by Jesus and his friends. Just as Our Lord and the Apostles gathered in the Upper Room to celebrate together, so do we as the Christian family gather in one place at one time to celebrate our unity in Christ. There is no greater expression of unity with one another and our unity with God than the Holy Eucharist. Thus, Maundy Thursday celebrates, recalls, and makes present again the Institution of the Eucharist by Our Lord Jesus Christ at the Last Supper.

Second, Jesus gave to his own a new commandment during the Last Supper. That new commandment, the mandatum novum (thus the name Maundy Thursday) is that we love one another as he loves us. How can we do this? Jesus gave us an example of what he meant. Jesus humbled himself and became a servant to wash the feet of the disciples. Some of them did not like this! Many of us are uncomfortable with this action even today. Yet, Jesus told Peter that we must be washed, and even wash each others' feet as a sign of our love and humility toward each other and God. Those who wish may come forward to have their feet washed. (Tip for those who do: it's a good idea to wear sandals or easily-removable socks.)

Third, it was the night of his Last Supper that Jesus was arrested in the garden of Gethsemane. At the conclusion of the Eucharistic worship the Altar and Sanctuary are stripped bare, and the sacramental Real Presence of Christ is removed to the Sacristy, where it is reserved for Communion on Good Friday. Fourth, the final stripping of the altar begins the Greater Silence of the Church. The liturgy ends abruptly – since, in fact, it is not an ending, but a pause, as we await the celebration of Good Friday.

We ask that you leave the church and the grounds in silence as you ponder in your heart this wondrous love offered for us.

GOOD FRIDAY

Friday in Holy Week is called "Good" Friday for on this day of Our Lord's crucifixion and death salvation came into the world. Our worship reflects a paradoxical mood of penitence and sadness, mingled with exultation as we reflect on this wondrous Mystery. You are reminded that the Good Friday offering each year is sent to Jerusalem, to sustain the ministry of the Church in the Holy Land.

The GOOD FRIDAY LITURGY begins at 7 PM on March 25. It is the continuation of the Liturgy that began last evening and that will not end until the first Eucharist of Easter on Saturday night. At the beginning of this part of the service, the church is bare, and the ministers enter in silence. Silence begins the Liturgy of the word, which concludes with a dramatic reading of the Passion according to John. After a brief sermon, the liturgy continues with the prayers of the people in a slightly different form. The Solemn Collects of Good Friday are perhaps the most ancient form of the intercessions which we have available. There are five "blocks" of prayers: for the Church, for the world and those in authority, for the suffering, and for the mission of the Church. In each section, the Intercessor bids the prayers, a silence follows, and the Celebrant offers an appropriate Collect which sums up the intercessions.

The Veneration of the Cross follows. A wooden cross is carried into the church and elevated three times, with the acclamation "This is the wood of the Cross, on which hung the Savior of the world." The cross is elevated at the same places where the Paschal Candle will be elevated at the Easter Vigil (at the Cathedral), reminding us that the Passion and the Resurrection of Christ are part of the same saving event. The priest and people now venerate the cross in ways which may be significant to them. In some places, it is customary for people to come forward, kneel at the foot of the cross, and kiss it or simply say a prayer before it (this is not a required devotion, but it is spiritually powerful to go to the cross and kneel before the crucified Lord); others may wish to simply remain kneeling in their place and gaze upon the cross in prayer.

Finally, Holy Communion is offered from the Sacrament consecrated and reserved on Maundy Thursday.

The Tabernacle is empty, the Sanctuary Lamp extinguished, and the church is left desolate. It feels sort of like the soul without Christ. This is a sad action, a draining experience. We don't like to see God's altar desolate, but such was the world and such is the soul without the living Christ.

Following the Good Friday Liturgy there is time to remain and offer our own silent prayers. This segment of the Triduum Liturgy again ends somewhat abruptly, because it is not really over. We pause for awhile before moving forward in this dramatic reenactment of the drama of our redemption.

THE FEAST OF THE 5 RESURRECTION

EASTER DAY

Easter Day (March 27 this year) is much like a usual Sunday, but with the restoration of alleluias and the Gloria in Excelsis, sung while ringing bells.

The Baptismal Font will be open in the central aisle, and filled with Holy Water during all of Eastertide, so that those who wish to may bless themselves with that water on their way in and out of church, as a reminder of the death and resurrection that we share in and with Jesus Christ in Baptism.

There will be no coffee hour on Easter Day, so that families may continue the festivities in their own ways.

If you are aware of parishioners who are homebound or hospitalized, please let us know, so that Easter Communion may be taken to them at home. This is not a burden, it is a joyful part of the ministry of the Church.

PLEASE REMEMBER TO BRING A BELL TO RING DURING THE GLORIA IN EXCELSIS!

May all fifty days of Easter be for you a glorious celebration of the Risen Lord!
